MISS MARGARET B. WADDEY TO WED JAMES BOXLEY

Smith-Lawless Wedding Takes Place This Afternoon—Announcements of Interest to Society.

One of the most interesting weddings of the week is that of Miss Margaret Burnett Waddey, daughter of Mrs. Everett Waddey, of 1815 Monument Avenue, and James Boxley, son of W. W. Boxley, of Roanoke. The wedding ceremony, which takes place to-morrow evening at 6 o'clock in the home of the bride's mother, will be witnessed by only the immediate families, and a large reception will follow.

Among the guests from a distance who are visiting at the Waddey home for the wedding are Miss Evelyn Griffin, of Salisbury, Miss Jane Waddey, of Washington, and Miss Helen Swisher, of Charleston, W. Va. Miss Waddey is a very charming and attractive young girl, and her wedding will be a lovely affair.

Smith-Lawless. The marriage of Miss Emma Lawless, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Lawless, of Holland, and the Charles Mason Smith, of Fredericksburg, will be celebrated this afternoon in the presence of only the immediate families and a few relatives.

Among the guests from the out-of-town guests for the ceremony are Mrs. Lucy Mason Smith and Miss Flora Mason, of Fredericksburg; Lieutenant and Mrs. Taylor Smith, of Annapolis, Md.; John Lee Lawless, of Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Barker, of Lynchburg; Dr. W. C. Barker, of Buchanan; Mr. and Mrs. Claude J. Edwards, and Mrs. W. H. Arthur, of Mrs. J. H. Norbert, all of Franklin. Owing to the social prominence of both bride and groom, the marriage is of much interest throughout the State. Miss Lawless is very popular in Ashland, where she made her home for a number of years and frequently visited, and Dr. Smith is physician to the State Normal School. The bride is a member of the Medical Reserve Corps, United States Army.

Waddey Entertained. A number of handsome functions have been planned in honor of the visitors here for the Southern Medical Convention this week. The women will be entertained in the afternoon with an automobile ride around the city, and there will be a big reception and dance at the Jefferson this evening, to which a number of prominent Richmond society people have been invited. Including the debutantes of this season and last. A luncheon will be held at the Country Club of Virginia to-morrow, and the women of the convention will be entertained at the theatre Wednesday evening, when Dr. Stuart McGuire gives his lecture for the men. The affairs will be very handsomely carried out in detail. Mrs. A. L. Gray is chairman of the entertainment committee.

At the Woman's Club. "Ideals in Southern Literature" was the subject of a thoroughly interesting lecture made by Dr. J. C. Metcalf before the Woman's Club yesterday afternoon. Dr. Metcalf, who is editor of Richmond's Times-Dispatch, is a man of rare charm and ability, and his addresses at the club are among the finest features of the lecture series each year.

Mrs. Christopher Tompkins was chairman of the afternoon and presented Dr. Metcalf to his audience. The speaker stated that there is no place with more idealism than the South, and that all the changes in Southern literature, we still have the romantic coloring of the plantation life and chivalry. American life at its best is but the putting of foundations under its air-castles, and the idealists have never been the promoters of the Southern civilization was born in idealism, and it was out of an accumulation of wealth of ideals and romance that Southern literature came into being. In a scholarly manner and with many delicately humorous touches, Dr. Metcalf told the story of the writers of the South and what they have accomplished. Ideals are the result of faith, and he said that it was the sweet singers of our country that one finds the purest idealism in our literature. These poets touched the harp of divine music with their lyric words, and the South was boundless. The idealistic dedication to art, found in Sidney Lanier's poems, John R. Thompson's, the melody and faint undertone of sadness of Poe, Hume and Tinsley, have caused them to "thrive and blossom like a wild flower on the edge of the wilderness."

The place in literature of "Uncle Remus," James Lane Allen, O. Henry, John Fox, Elmer Craddock, and Cable was touched upon in interesting detail with their promise of a new day in the field of literature over the vision of our richly talented poets. Dr. Metcalf read a number of poems from Southern singers, and in conclusion stated that there were three outstanding characteristics of Southern literature: the nobility and their stern, uncompromising struggle with life; purity of sentiment and clearness of aspiration, which quickened it into being. It is a noble heritage, and such a bright light in the grasp of writers of to-day to redeem the world from its practical life.

Charity Card Party. A card party, set out in full force to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 to attend the charity bridge party given by the Belle R. Harrison Memorial Circle of King's Daughters at the Country Club of Virginia. The entertainment is an annual event, and numerous tables have been reserved in advance through Mrs. George Ansley, of 1628 West Grove Street, and Mrs. B. Stewart Hume, of 1335 West Avenue, who have charge of it. The affair is for the benefit of the Sheltering Arms Free Hospital, and is always one of the largest and most important, charitable events of the year. Prizes will be awarded for the best scores, and tea will be served after the game is concluded.

Cottrell-Herbert. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Herbert announce the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Selden, to Stewart Cottrell, which took place in Roanoke at noon on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Cottrell will be at home at 1509 Grove Avenue after December 15. The bride is widely respected both here and throughout Virginia, and is a sister of Mrs. I. Branch Johnson, of Norfolk.

Visit in Pennsylvania. Miss Martha Hill Clarke, after a visit to Upland, Pa., is now visiting her aunt, Mrs. A. S. Lanier, at the Netherlands in Washington. Her sister, Miss Josephine Clarke, has also returned from Upland and is the guest of her father, Mrs. Julian Gunn, at Westhampton.

Mrs. Donaldson's Lecture. This afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the State Normal School, Mrs. Sally Ould Donaldson will give the first of a series of lectures on the war now going on in Europe. Mrs. Donaldson, who has been in New York for the past two months making a special study of her subject under the leading authorities there, is a charming and most interesting speaker, and some of the best-known society people in Richmond will attend her lecture this afternoon and for each succeeding Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Donaldson will also give an afternoon at the Woman's Club, 1155 Traylor's Dancing Classes, one of the most fashionable dancing

Eat Intelligently

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

(Copyright, 1914, by Lillian Russell.) So much depends upon the diet that you should select your food with the greatest care. Each morsel ought to be chosen with a definite object in view. It is not sufficient to merely satisfy the appetite. Your desires may include many varieties of food which are unnecessary or even detrimental to your health. If they are gratified the energies of your digestive organs are utilized without benefit and with likely harmful results.

Your digestive organs have a definite capacity for work. Continued overwork causes a breakdown, but it is possible to keep the work within limits and still fall to make proper use of the organs upon which the health most depends.
